

Privacy Policy

Welcome to the Haky Privacy Policy ("Policy"). This explains how we collect, store, protect, and share your information, and with whom we share it. In addition, you may choose to use the App to share information with other users, including your friends and contacts ("Users"). We may also need to share your information at times.

Haky is a global app, and your information will be sent to and used in the United States regardless of the country you reside in. This Policy explains how we protect your personal data when we transfer it overseas, so please read very carefully!

If you have any questions or comments about this Policy, please feel free to contact us info@Hakyapp.us

- Name;
- Username;
- Email address;

Once you register, you will be able to review and change this information at any time by accessing your "Profile" page. You control your user profile and are able to correct or update (other than your email address, mobile number, date of birth, gender and location (which is automatically updated)) your information at any time by just logging in to Haky.

The information we collect helps to enhance the App and verify our Users.

Registration Information such as your name and username may be visible to the public on your profile page.

Additional Information

We may ask you to provide your full name, address and email address. Such details may be shared with third parties for purposes relating to, for example, any [loyalty programs, sending gifts or delivery of merchandise].

We may also collect additional information in connection with your use of Haky, for example if you use the electronic messaging function.

If you contact our Customer Support team, we will receive your email address, and may track your IP address as well as the information you send to us to help resolve your query. We will keep records of our communications with you, including any complaints that we receive from you about other Users (and from other Users about you).

We recommend and encourage you (and all our members) to think carefully about the information you disclose about yourself. We also do not recommend that you put email addresses, URLs, instant messaging details, phone numbers, full names or addresses, credit card details, national identity numbers, drivers' license details and other sensitive information on your profile which is open to abuse and misuse.

Please be careful about posting sensitive details about yourself on your profile such as your religious denomination and health details. You may also choose to add sensitive information about yourself when you add certain Haky [NAME OF DEFAULT INFO DESIGNATIONS] to your profile, such as your religion and political leanings. While you may voluntarily provide this information to us when you create your profile, including your sexual preferences, there is no requirement to do so. Please remember that photographs that you post on Haky may reveal information about yourself as well. Where you do upload and choose to tell us sensitive information about yourself, including through adding certain [NAME OF DEFAULT INFO DESIGNATIONS] to your profile, you are explicitly consenting to our processing of your information and making this public to other Users.

When you post information about yourself or use the messaging function, the amount of personal information you share is at your own risk. Please see Section 4 below for more information on who can access what you post on Haky. If you post anything that is inconsistent with our Terms and Conditions of Use, we reserve the right to terminate your Account.

For safety and security and to ensure you have the best possible user experience, we require users to verify their accounts. We want to avoid fake Haky accounts being created which can be used for malicious activities and cybercrime – they threaten the Haky network and ruin it for everyone.

It is your responsibility to ensure that the details in your Account are current. If your details change, please ensure that you update your Account.

To prevent abuse of the app/site, Haky uses automated decisions and moderators to block accounts as part of its moderation procedures. In order to do this, we check accounts and messages for content that indicates breaches of our Terms and Conditions of Use. This is done through a combination of automated systems and our team of moderators. If an account or message meets certain criteria that demonstrate that the Terms and Conditions of Use are likely to have been breached, the relevant account will automatically be blocked. All users of accounts that have been blocked will be notified that their account has been blocked and affected users can contact Haky to contest the decision.

Haky also uses automated decisions to prevent fraudulent payment transactions being processed as part of its anti-fraud procedures. In order to do this, our systems check payment transactions for behavior that indicates breaches of our Terms and Conditions of Use. If a transaction meets certain criteria that demonstrate that the Terms and Conditions of Use are likely to have been breached and the transaction is likely to be fraudulent, the relevant transaction may automatically be blocked. Where a transaction is blocked, the user will be notified that their transaction cannot be processed and affected users can contact Haky to contest the decision.

If you decide to purchase any of our premium services, we will process your payment information and retain this securely for the prevention of fraud and for audit/tax purposes.

We process some limited data (demographics and information that you have optionally provided us with via Haky [NAME OF DEFAULT INFO DESIGNATIONS]) to drive targeted advertising in our legitimate interest, via promo cards and ads on our App. We also process limited data (device identifiers) and share this with third party advertising networks which host our ads. You can stop targeted advertising within the [“Contact & FAQ” page accessible via your profile. If you opt-out of targeted advertising you will still see adverts though they will be less relevant to you. Through your device’s security settings you also have the option to prevent or limit device identifiers being shared with third party advertisers and what use is made of the device identifiers. If you would like more information about this practice and to know your choices about not having this information used by these companies, please visit this page.

Finally, we want to keep in touch with you to make sure you know about the great promotions and offers we have available. If you’ve told us it’s OK, we will use your email address to send you information on these. You can withdraw this consent at any time via Settings in the App.

Data Storage

By using the App, you acknowledge that Haky is a global app operating through servers located in a number of countries around the world, including the United States. If you live in a country with data protection laws, the storage of your personal data may not provide you with the same protections as you enjoy in your country of residence.

Geolocation Information

If you turn these features on, when you use your mobile, we will collect information about WiFi access points as well as other location information about your longitude and latitude and may save your device's coordinates to offer certain features to you. This information helps us identify your physical location and we may use it to personalize the App and make it easier to confirm your location, to check-in and begin interacting with other Users, by enabling the information to be displayed and shared with other users.

If you have enabled location services, but wish to turn them off, you can do so by the following methods:

1. iPhone app — settings, privacy, location services, Haky
2. Android — settings, location, Haky, permissions, location

Please note that by turning o location services, you will be unable to connect with and interact with other Users.

Log and Usage Data

We keep your personal information only as long as we need it for legitimate business purposes (as set out in Section 11 below) and as permitted or required by applicable law.

In practice, we delete or anonymize your information upon deletion of your Account (following the safety retention window), unless:

1. we must keep it to comply with applicable law (for instance, some “traffic data” is kept for one year to comply with statutory data retention obligations);
2. we must keep it to evidence our compliance with applicable law (for instance, records of consents to our Terms, Privacy Policy and other similar consents are kept for five years);
3. there is an outstanding issue, claim or dispute requiring us to keep the relevant information until it is resolved; or
4. the information must be kept for our legitimate business interests, such as fraud prevention and enhancing users' safety and security. For example, information may need to be kept to prevent a user who was banned for unsafe behavior or security incidents from opening a new account.

Where Haky uses machine learning, for example, to help us detect and prevent fraudulent card transactions, and to detect and prevent spam communications on the App (as explained above), we may need to keep personal information for a longer period than the retention periods explained above, to enable the machine learning to work properly. Where this is the case, we always seek to minimize the amount of personal information that is used and we ensure that it is ring-fenced and kept securely from other user personal information. We regularly review the period for which personal information is required for machine learning purposes and delete any identifiable information when it is no longer required.

Device Information

We may collect information about your device when you use the App including the unique device identifier, device model, operating system, and MAC address. In addition, if you permit us to do so, the App may access your device's address book solely in order to add someone to your contacts.

Links

We may keep track of how you interact with links available on Haky including third party services and clients by redirecting clicks or through other means. We may share aggregate click statistics such as how many times a particular link was clicked on.

If for any reason you decide that you do not want all of your Haky activities to be stored you may set your browser and mobile settings to block cookies and local storage devices, but please remember that if you do so, you may not be able to access all of the features Haky offers.

Our use of cookies and local storage devices, including the specific cookie names, may change over time, but will generally fall into the above categories. We use reasonable security measures to safeguard the confidentiality of your personal information such as secured servers using firewalls.

No website or Internet transmission is completely 100% secure and, as such, we cannot and do not guarantee that unauthorized access, hacking, data loss or other breaches will not occur. Below is guidance on how to protect your data:

1. Log out of your Account after each use.

Do not share your social media password with anyone.

1. Change your social media password periodically.

If you suspect someone has accessed your social media account or had access to your social media password, please report it to the relevant social media platform and change your password immediately. If you have registered on one of these third party websites, such as Facebook, or you have verified your Account via a third party website, we may connect your Haky profile with your profile on such website. We may do this by way of new products and applications which we introduce from time to time, including new products powered by our companies.

This may be information we received from you offline and online. If you want us to stop further sharing your email contact information with third parties (if we have your email contact information), you may notify us at [EMAIL]. Please follow the instructions provided to you by third parties to unsubscribe from their messages. If you have opted-out as described above, and thereafter you choose to use a service or promotion that requires us to contact you or share your information with a third party, then your previous opt-out preferences will not apply to such service.

In addition, under California law, operators of online services are required to disclose how they respond to "do not track" signals or other similar mechanisms that provide consumers the ability to exercise choice regarding the collection of personal information of a consumer over time and across third party online services, to the extent the operator engages in that collection. At this time, we do not track our Users' personal information over time and across third-party online services. This law also requires operators of online services to disclose whether third parties may collect personal information about their users' online activities over time and across different online services when the users use the operator's service.
